

Industrial Facility Services

In today's competitive environment, never has your bottom line meant so much for your company's survival. Cleaning and maintenance budgets are critically important so getting the most value for your dollar means finding the highest productivity from your janitorial company without compromising on quality and safety. Professional Building Services has already answered the call for facility managers facing the same realities of today's economic environment.

Our highly trained team works seamlessly to cover every aspect of your cleaning and maintenance needs incorporating the latest technology and most efficient processes specifically for the industrial and manufacturing industry.

At PBS we focus on our client's most important goals. A tradition of excellence since 1981, on-site supervision, responsive account managers available 24/7, staff training and development, flexible service programs to meet today's demanding facility manager's needs and budgets, all knit together with our own proprietary quality control program. Translate these facts to a healthier bottom line for your company while enjoying an increase in quality.

Every staff member in your facility is recruited, background checked, fully verified for employment, trained and supervised by a nationally known team of industry experts. Why just guess who has access to your property with inexperienced franchises or sub-contractors of service contract brokers?

Cost effective cleaning and maintenance does not mean having to gamble with your facility's security or risk liability and your company's reputation with non-traditional or in many cases illegal employment practices. PBS maintains our own fully documented, trained, supervised staff for the safety of your co-workers and guests. Accounts executives are on-call 24/7 for any special requests or emergencies and are equipped with the latest communications technology.
